The OMEGA

Forty-Third Annual Publication
of the Senior Class
of the
Ann Arbor High School
Ann Arbor, Michigan

To

MRS. E. W. JACKSON

WE, the editors of the forty-third volume of the Omega, respectfully dedicate this book, in appreciation of her untiring and thoroughly worth-while accomplishments both as a teacher and as the director of dramatic productions. In the former position she has brought inspiration as well as knowledge to many, while as the latter she has successfully directed and produced many plays of merit during her years at Ann Arbor High School. Besides her work in these two fields she has been a kindly adviser and guide for all those students who were acquainted with her.

FOREWORD

Year after year sees the repetition of the June program: class day, Senior banquet, Commencement. Not the least important of the events of Senior Week is the publication of the Omega,—the Seniors' own book. For forty-three years the Seniors of the Ann Arbor High School have published such a book, and each year have "pointed with pride" to their achievement. This year is no exception: again the Omega staff offers the public a book which it hopes will stand comparison with the best Omega that has ever been published.

The Class of Nineteen Twenty-Nine

THE CLASS of 1929 was the first to enter the Ann Arbor High School under the three-year plan. In 1926-27 officers were elected as follows: president, Roy Goulder; vice president, Paul Proud; secretary, Frieda Schaefer; treasurer, Margaret Culver; sergeant-at-arms, David Dow. Under their management, the class was very successful, being well represented in athletics, oratory, and scholarship.

The next year the class again chose Roy Goulder as president. The other officers were vice-president, Frieda Schaefer; secretary and treasurer, Virginia Forsythe; representatives, Margaret Culver and Leonard Coryell. Six Juniors made the football squad, and for the second time Estel Tessmer was made captain of the basketball team, on which were three other members of this class. About ten Juniors appeared in plays. Kenneth Gorton was editor of the Optimist, with fourteen other members of this class on the staff. John White was art editor of the Omega.

In the fall of 1928 Roy Goulder was elected president for the third time. Frieda Schaefer was made vice-president; Virginia Forsythe, secretary and treasurer; Robert Pierce and Kenneth Gorton, representatives. The Seniors who made a name for themselves in various forms of athletics were William Mordsky, Lawrence Walz, Harry Tillotson, Hilton Ponto, Newman Davis, Roy Goulder, Leonard Coryell, and Ira Williams. John Huss represented the school in extempore speaking. Robert Pierce and Leonard Coryell were editor and business manager respectively of the Optimist. The class was represented in dramatics by Ann Verner, David Dow, Carlton Jolly, John Huss, Nancy-Ellen Reed, Lucille Barnes, Bernice Druckenbrod, and Helen Brittain.

Class day exercises were held Thursday afternoon, June 13. Those elected to speak at this time were Lewis Gill, class prophecy; John Huss, class oration; Mary Agnes Swanwick, class history; Virginia Forsythe, class song; Helen Nagel, class poem; Hilda Angerer, class essay. Commencement was held in Hill Auditorium on June 14.

The Class of Nineteen Thirty

IN the fall of 1927 two hundred and fifty sophomores entered Ann Arbor High School. They have formed a very solid foundation for the school in more ways than one.

In athletics they have been prominent, especially during the past year, having contributed more members to the teams than both the Sophomores and Seniors together. Those starring in basketball were Captain Billy Pegan, Douglas Nott, Peter Zahner, Robert Mayfield, and Roger Brown. James Conover and Harry Kasabach represented their class on the second team. In football Douglas Nott, Peter Zahner, Francis Jenkins, Billy Pegan, William Judson, Alfred Frey, James Nichols, Harry Matthews, Alfred Schneeberger, James Conover, Arnold Walsh, Robert Mayfield, Kenneth Wagner, and Edward Magill received letters for their ability on the gridiron. Earl Steeb, Lewis Sergeant, Emerson Kempf, Arthur Mosier, Parke Sager, Stanton Ware, Kenneth Wagner, and Harry Matthews were listed among the reserves. The swimmers in the class were Captain Grier Bovard, Harry Matthews, Douglas Nott, Lewis Sergeant, and Rodes Clay. Two-thirds of the track team came from C-1 this year: Alfred Schneeberger, Earl Steeb, Charles Stocking, Floyd Wakefield, Roger Brown, and Peter Zahner were among them. Floyd Wakefield, Hoyt Servis, and William McFall shone on the cross country squad.

Scholastically, they had such individual geniuses as James Conover, Ruth Lovejoy, Hilda Haab, Eloise Backus, George Luther, Harry Kasabach, Margaret Steere, Eric Barlow, Charles Menefee, Lyle Waggoner, Wayne Dickens, Edythe Lowery, Ferne Palmer, and Elizabeth Switzer.

For the school publications the class of 1930 has furnished many able workers: on the Omega Ruth Lovejoy and Margaret Norton have assisted the editor-in-chief, while Stanton Ware and Peter Zahner have helped the business manager. Evelyn Hawley was on the Optimist staff. In this class also were a number who were invited to the Honor Banquet because of a perfect attendance record. They included Thelma Marquardt, Clifford Noll, Frederick Jahnke, and John Schwemmin. In dramatics, Jean Engard, Alba Bush, and Roderick and Margaret Norton have distinguished themselves. Richard Burris was one of the five cheer-leaders.

The Class of 1931

THE class of 1931 consists of 386 students, 152 of whom came from Tappan, 115 from Mack, 74 from Jones, seven from the University High School, four from the Stone School, and 32 from places remote from Ann Arbor.

More than fifty of these students excelled in many different activities. Those attaining high scholarship were Ruth Coles, Mary Lunny, Margaret Major, Clarence Markham, Vera Newbrough, Sarah Pierce, Eleanor Yanke, and Murl Young.

Seven Sophomores, four of whom were promoted to C-1 in January, served on the Optimist staff. These were Bruce Dick, Bertha Gos, Austin Lutes, Sarah Pierce, Don Miller, Byrd Pierce, Russell Dunnaback, and Hoyt Servis.

The list of participants in different forms of athletics was rather large, the most popular sport being track. Those boys on the track team were Loyal Crawford, Harold Gooding, Gladwin Hanks, Gale Hibbard, Alfred Houliston, Maxwell Miles, James Swenson, Alfred Wagner, and Herman Welke. On the swimming team were Ross Mayfield, Robert Mowerson, Erwin Schneeberger, Jack Showler, Elliott Tubbs, and Edwin Webster. Basketball was also represented in this class: Herbert Letchfield and Alvin Novack played on the first team, while Richard Dunnaback, James Hickey, Lawrence Pratt, and Richard White played on the second team.

Those taking part in girls' athletics were Margaret Brooks, Adeline DeBersaques, Esther Gauss, Bertha Gos, Sarah Pierce, and Peggy Whiteman. The cheer leaders from C-3 were Roy Alexander, Derwood Prochnow, and Raymond Wines. In the Christmas play were Andre Charissi, Frieda Fiegel, Vera Newbrough, and Sarah Pierce. The Sophomore stunt at the Fancy Dress Party was awarded second place. Sarah Pierce was chairman of the committee with Frieda Fiegel, Mabel Lennon, Vera Newbrough, and Esther Theurer. Ruth and Marion Qua were awarded prizes for the prettiest costumes.

ACTIVITIES

The Senior Play

"THE Road to Yesterday," a fantasy by Beulah Marie Dix and Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland, was presented in Pattengill auditorium by the Seniors, on the evenings of March 22 and 23. The plot concerns Elizabeth Tyrell, who while visiting in London wishes that she might be living in the age of Queen Elizabeth. As it is Midsummer's Eve, her wish is granted in a dream and she finds herself in disguise, scrubbing floors in an English inn. Her friends are there in other personalities, but none of them recognizes her. She is carried off by the villian, but is rescued by her dying lover. At this dramatic moment she wakens and all ends well.

The cast did fine work: Nancy-Ellen Reed in the part of Elizabeth Tyrell, and David Dow as the dashing but discreet hero. Ann Verner was a charming gypsy. Bernice Druckenbrod, Carleton Jolly, and Elmo Vincent played parts varying widely in character in the two scenes. The best comedy work was done by Rose Block and Edward Fahan. The costumes were elaborate and attractive, and in the second and third acts typical of the period. The settings, both modern and historic, were excellent and showed much ingenuity on the part of the director. Between the acts June Lapointe, Charles Friday, and Karl Krumrei added much to the enjoyment of the occasion with their artistic and original costume dances.

The Christmas Play

THE ANNUAL Christmas play was presented before vacation in assembly for high school students, and in the evening for the general public. As it is an all-school play, the cast was most representative. "Why the Chimes Rang," by Elizabeth MacFadden, was selected as being most appropriate for the season and giving greatest opportunity for acting.

The beautiful settings were built by Charles Jenkins and Charles Friday, and painted by George Monks, who created a really convincing cathedral scene. Acting honors go to Roderick Norton and Rodes Clay, as Holger and Steen respectively. Margaret Norton was the prophetic old woman and Carlisle Schnitzer was the matter-of-fact Uncle Bertel. In the pantomine Andre Charissi was the serious priest, while Sarah Pierce was the angel; Vera Newbrough, Frieda Fiegel, Esther Kunkle, Mary Michael, and Ruth Lovejoy played the parts of courtier, rich man, rich woman, king, and wise man respectively.

Excellent and appropriate music was arranged by Miss Higbee with the aid of the Girls' Glee Club and the Orchestra. Before the performance began, the girls sang Christmas carols. The play is so beautiful in conception that the director hopes that it may become an annual event and a high school tradition.

The Honor Banquet

The annual Honor Banquet, now an established institution, was originated by Superintendent Emeritus Slauson in the year 1909. Although this affair began on rather a meager basis, it has grown larger and larger because of the fine effect it has had as a stimulus to thorough work, exemplary conduct, and true devotion to the entire Ann Arbor High School. The Honor Banquet was originally only for those who distinguished themselves in football. Each year new activities, deemed worthy of reward, have been added to the list until now anyone who has made some distinction in one line or another is given this great honor in appreciation of his effort.

The twentieth annual banquet was held on the evening of December 14, 1928. Students representing football, basketball, tennis, track, swimming, and all classes of sports for both boys and girls; those who had excelled in scholarship honors, dramatics, music, debating, oratory, declamation, extempore speaking, citizenship honors; the editors and managers of the Optimist and Omega; and those students having a perfect attendance record of from two to eight years took part at this banquet.

The gymnasium was decorated very attractively and most appropriately for the Christmas season. At the far end of the room was a huge reproduction of the school seal in purple, black,and gold on a white background. The balcony was bordered with little Christmas trees which sparkled with colored lights. These decorations were the work of the members of the art classes.

Following the banquet toasts were given by students and alumni. Lines of the school song, "The Purple and the White," were used as the theme of the toasts.

The speakers were as follows:

Toastmaster	Professor Daniel Rich
Dramatics	Elizabeth Norton
Scholarship	Anna Goss
Athletics	William Mordsky
Debating and Oratory	John Huss
Publications	Kenneth Gorton
Attendance	Clarence Illi
Alumni	Thomas Lyndon

The orchestra under the direction of Miss Higbee contributed delightful selections which added to the enjoyment throughout the evening. Since honors for students who distinguished themselves in music and in citizenship were additional to last year's list, the number exceeded that of all former years. The evening was closed by the singing of the school song.

The Band

THE ANN ARBOR HIGH SCHOOL BAND was organized in 1924, and has steadily grown until it now numbers thirty-five members. Attractive uniforms in the school colors were purchased two years ago through the generosity of the business men of Ann Arbor, and the school has been proud this year of the fine appearance made by the Band whenever it appeared in public. The student body sometimes fails to realize just how much it owes to the Band for its frequent appearances at athletic contests. It played at all of the football games, all of the basketball games, at the annual Field Day May 31, and several times at the junior high schools of the city in order to arouse interest among the junior high school pupils who will soon be in the Senior High School.

At the time of the regional basketball tournament, the Student Council raised enough money by popular subscription to send the Band to Jackson, where it gave inspiration to the players by its "peppy" music. The Band is the only one of the four musical organizations of the school which did not enter the state music contest at Lansing in May. The director, Mr. Champion, felt that too many men had been lost by graduation last year to warrant competition with seasoned organizations from the larger high schools of the state. However, he hopes to have a band second to none next year.

The Orchestra

NEVER BEFORE in the history of the school have the high school assemblies proved so inspiring as this year. This was due mainly to the excellent programs provided by the Assembly Lyceum Bureau, but also in large measure to the fine music which the augmented orchestra of forty pieces has furnished at almost every assembly. At the beginning of the year several new instruments were purchased, and many new students responded to Miss Higbee's call for members. With a large number of more or less trained musicians, the director has been able to attempt more difficult selections than ever before, and to render them with a finish and verve which are gratifying in a high school group.

Besides its appearances in assembly, the orchestra played before the Rotarian and Kiwanis luncheon clubs at the Chamber of Commerce, and received well-merited praise for its efforts. In the state music contest at Lansing May 2, it played the following selections: overture from "Egmont," by Beethoven, and "Waltz of the Flowers," from the Nut-Cracker Suite by Tschaikowski. Competing with much larger orchestras, it did not win honors, but Miss Higbee expressed herself as being well satisfied with the excellent showing which it made.

The Boys' Glee Club

THIS YEAR the Boys' Glee Club was composed of twenty-two members who met bi-weekly on Mondays and Wednesdays during school hours. Miss Juva Higbee, head of the music department of the public schools, acted as director, while Virginia Forsythe made an efficient accompanist.

Although the club rehearsed frequently, it did not appear in public as often as last year, being content to point its efforts towards the state music contest held at Lansing May 2. Here the boys sang "On the Sea" by Dudley Buck, and "Lovely Night," by Chwatal, and made a very favorable impression, although they did not place.

At the Christmas play several members of the club assisted with the incidental music. At the Schoolmasters' Club meeting in Hill Auditorium April 25 the boys appeared with the girls as part of the musical program presented by the high school chorus. The combined clubs sang, a capella, "Day Spring of Eternity" by Christensen, Roland Otto carrying the solo part. Here they showed the results of the long and careful training which they have had under the excellent leadership of Miss Higbee. It is hoped that she will allow them to appear more frequently next year as their repertoire and their ability increase.

The Girls' Glee Club

WHEN MISS HIGBEE organized the Girls' Glee Club last fall fifty girls tried out for places. From this number the director selected thirty-two of the best voices, and with them developed a first-class organization. The club met twice a week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, during school hours. Virginia Forsythe was the accompanist during the entire year, while Dorothy Stapleton was elected president.

The girls appeared in assembly and sang at a Parent-Teachers meeting. They also made an impressive appearance at the Christmas play in assembly, where they sang several familiar Christmas carols. On this occasion they were dressed in red capes and hoods and carried lighted candles, suggestive of the carol singers of Old England.

Appearing with the Boys' Glee Club at the Schoolmasters' Club concert in Hill Auditorium, April 25, they sang with excellent effect Christensen's "Day Spring of Eternity." They repeated this number at the state music contest at Lansing May 2, and also sang two selections without the boys: "The Lorelei" by Heine, and "Summer Wind" by McDowell. While they did not win, their selections gained applause, and they looked particularly attractive in the dainty uniforms which they had chosen for the occasion.

Miss Wisehart, Abe Zwerdling, Hilda Angerer, John Huss.

Debating and Public Speaking

SPEECH ACTIVITIES in the Ann Arbor High School have been in charge of a new director this year: Miss Ethel Wisehart succeeded Miss Mayzel Evans as debate coach and public speaking teacher. As in the past, the school joined the Michigan High School Debating League, and engaged in four preliminary debates. The local team, composed of John Huss, Abe Zwerdling, and Lucille Jetter, who is not in the above picture, succeeded in winning the initial encounter with Lansing by a unanimous vote. The team was then defeated by River Rouge. Ferndale was the next opponent, against whom the local trio was successful. The last debate of the four was won by Adrian. This definitely eliminated the school from the second series of debates in the state league. John Huss, a Senior, was the only member who had had previous experience. Abe Zwerdling, a Sophomore, showed remarkable ability, and will be a strong support for next year's team. Lucille Jetter was succeeded by Hilda Angerer in the later debates, and both girls acquitted themselves notably.

During the second semester the school entered the Michigan High School Oratorical Association; Abe Zwerdling won the local declamation contest with his declamation, "The Predatory Rich," while Hilda Angerer won the oratorical contest. John Huss won the district contest in the Michigan Extempore League. He also represented the school in the Peninsular League at Muskegon.

The Student Council

THE Student Council this year was composed of fifteen student members, consisting of five student officers from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes respectively. Regular meetings were held every other Thursday, but several special meetings were also called.

The Student Council boasts of the success with which this year's work was carried out. Because the student-monitor system which it put into effect during the year 1928 did not prove successful as planned, it devised a new and far better plan of student supervision in the halls. The Council also supervised pep meeting, cared for the bulletin-boards, provided new cheer leaders and recommended that they be awarded with A. A. letters for their services, took charge of cleaning-up the school and its grounds, suggested and debated on the question of a baseball team, and chose the student members of the Athletic and Non-Athletic Boards.

The Athletic Board

THE Athletic Board of Control is one of the oldest organizations in the school. It was organized by the Board of Education in 1894, and intrusted with the entire control of athletic activities. Among its duties are the arrangement of football, basketball, track, and other schedules, awarding of athletic letters, and supervision of games held in the city under the auspices of the school. The Board is composed of six members: the principal, two teachers chosen by the faculty, and three students chosen by the Student Council to represent their respective classes. Mr. Wines and Mr. Joclyn have been honored faculty members for many years.

In the course of its history the Board has renewed the football equipment, provided removable bleachers for the school gymnasium, erected bleachers on Wines Field, drained the field itself, and otherwise improved it in many ways. This year's Board awarded letters to the cheerleaders and purchased new suits for the athletic teams. In the spring it conducted a successful campaign in connection with the Student Council to provide funds for a baseball team, an athletic activity which has not been represented in the school for many years.

Botom Row—Mr. Forsythe, Mrs. Jackson, Chairman.

The Non-Athletic Board

THE Non-Athletic Board of Control was founded in 1894 by the Board of Education, at the same time that the Athletic Board of Control was authorized. As its name implies, it has control over all extra-curricular activities of the school which are distinct from athletics. Like the Athletic Board, it is composed of six members: the principal, two teachers elected each year by the faculty, and one representative from each of the three classes chosen by the Student Council.

During the past year the N. A. B. has co-operated with the Student Council in the management of affairs which come under the jurisdiction of both groups. A joint committee was appointed to take charge of these affairs and to present them at the meetings of the two organizations. This has resulted in mutual benefit to them both and to the school. The duties of the Board include such things as the formulation of rules governing school societies, recognition of new clubs, and complete supervision of all-school parties, including the arrangement of a schedule for the year and the appointment of committees and chaperones. One of its most important activities is the regulation of student-activity points; by a graduated point scale sudents may indulge in only as many activities as their abilities will permit.

The Omega

FOR forty-three years the Seniors of the Ann Arbor High School have published a year-book. Beginning under the title, "The Breeze," the book soon changed its name to "The Omega," significant of the end of its publishers, the Seniors,—at least as far as the high school is concerned. The book on the whole has been very creditable, but not until last year was a volume published which was really excellent from both an artistic and a technical standpoint. The change was due to a change in engravers: for the first time, the Detroit Service Engraving Company received the contract for the engraving. In addition to the engraving work, the company offers the resources of its art and editorial departments. The result was an attractively-bound book, beautifully engraved and artistically conceived.

This year's Omega, the forty-third volume, follows much the same plan as last year's book. The engraving has again been done by the Detroit Service Engraving Company. The art theme is based on the early explorations of the French and Indians in Michigan; La Salle is supposed to be the first white man ever to cross the Huron River. The rich brown leather cover with the same attractive design which was used last year lends the book a distinctive appearance, while the use of colored ink in the opening section and on the page borders adds further to its attractiveness.

Three new features render this year's book distinctive: the arrangement of the Senior pictures and cartoons across the page instead of up and down, the faculty section, and the original pencil sketch of the high school which serves as a frontispiece. The faculty section in the past has appeared every four years. Now that the school has become a three-year senior high school the faculty section will probably appear every three years. The frontispiece is the work of a Detroit artist and was sketched especially for this book.

One of the features which always characterizes the Omega is the Senior cartoons. These are seldom found in other year books but have become so much a part of the Ann Arbor publication that without them the book would not seem complete. They represent one of the largest single jobs in the preparation of the Omega. Hence it is fitting that the work of Helen Brittain, the assistant editor, and of Mrs. Sellard's art classes should be particularly commended. Miss Carson and her class in office practice deserve the thanks of the staff for the efficient way in which they assisted in the preparation of the copy.

Last year's book made a profit of $35.00; this year the business manager expects merely to break even because of the extra expense connected with the special features. The size remains the same as last year, as well as the price per copy and the number of copies printed. Mr. Robert Granville, head of the English Department, supervised the construction of the book.

The Optimist

THE OPTIMIST, weekly publication of the Ann Arbor High School, has been quite successful during the past year under the efficient guidance of Robert Pierce, editor-in-chief, Leonard Coryell, business manager, and Mr. Isbell, faculty adviser, who succeeded Mr. Granville. When the change in advisers was made, it was found expedient to change the office as well. Hence the Optimist now occupies airier and more commodious quarters in the old radio room. The size, style, and make-up remained the same as last year. However, the quality of the contents has shown an improvement, possibly because the editor has had the assistance of Kenneth Gorton, last year's editor, and Lewis Gill, sports editor.

An innovation this year was the noon lunches held frequently during the year at which notable speakers frequently addressed the staff. Among them were Prof. Maurier of the University of Michigan and Mr. Ray Baker of Ann Arbor Daily News. Several delegates were sent to the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association meeting at Ann Arbor. In February, Robert Pierce went as delegate to the Columbia Press Association meeting held in New York City On March 26 the Optimist staff acted as host to the other publications of the city schools at a supper served in the cafeteria. Mr. Forsythe, Mr. Granville, Mr. Isbell, and Robert Pierce were the speakers, while Lewis Gill acted as toastmaster.

The Fancy Dress Party

THE BIG EVENT of the year for the girls, the Fancy Dress Party, was held on the evening of February 15. As usual teachers were stationed at each door to prevent the entrance of "undesired guests." Came the Grand March, with its gay costumes of cats, fairies, soldiers, sailors, jockeys, "hard-hearted Hannahs," old "men" and ladies, and even circus announcers. Then there was a scramble for partners for the first dance. The biggest feature of the occasion was the awarding of prizes for the funniest, the prettiest, and the most original costumes.

A surprise added to the excitement when the teachers gave a very clever and comical play, "The Lamp Went Out." The Sophomores gave a most original and fantastic presentation of a "Mother Goose" story, "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe." Dancing and singing added to the feature. The Juniors gave their interpretation of a vaudeville at the famous Wuerth Theater. The prize was awarded to this class, to the satisfaction of all but the Sophomores and Seniors. The Seniors concluded the stunt program by giving a display called "The Toy Shop."

The Science Club

THE SCIENCE CLUB was founded in 1921 as an organization for chemistry students only. In 1924 physics students were invited to join. The next year biology students were admitted to the group, and it became known as the Science Club. This year the biology students failed to enter the organization; however, it is hoped that next year they will show a renewed interest.

The purpose of the organization is to furnish its members with an understanding of the sciences not available in the classroom because of limited time. For those students planning to carry their education farther, the programs furnish material by which they can better judge whether they desire to enter the field of science. For those not intending to go on, an opportunity is given by which they may learn many interesting and instructional facts about the sciences which could not easily be obtained elsewhere.

The past year has been a prosperous one for the Science Club. Its membership was large, its program interesting as well as instructive, and its faculty adviser efficient. At the first meeting Mr. Ernst gave a demonstration of glass blowing. According to the evidence in the laboratories later on, a goodly number of students are seriously considering adopting this trade. Next Mr. Buell gave a talk on "Physical Facts and Freaks." At the following meeting Professor Bartlett of the University of Michigan presented an illustrated lecture on anti-venom. The members next heard a talk on "The History of Pharmacy," given by Mr. Stocking. The next two meetings were held on the campus, one in the heating tunnels and the other in the chemical laboratories. The next meeting was in charge of the students themselves; representatives from the physics and chemistry departments gave demonstrations in their respective fields. At a later meeting movies on the rubber and sulphur industries were shown.

Twice during the year the members departed from their rather practical standpoint and reveled, once at a sleigh ride party and again at a social function held in the spring.

The Classical Club

THE PURPOSE of the Classical Club is to create an interest in Greek and Latin. Meetings have been held monthly at the homes of the members and many interesting programs have been presented. At the first meeting of the year Miss Rieger gave a very interesting talk about her trip abroad.

At Christmas time the club had a party at the home of Frances Smith, where a few of the girls presented a clever little one-act play by Maurice Baring called "Calpurnia's Dinner Party."

In February the members attended a performance of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" at the high school. This semester the club has had many fine lectures, among them an illustrated talk by Professor Swain on ancient monasteries in which he told of one still existing on Mount Athos.

The Foreign-American Club

IF AMERICAN BOYS and those from foreign countries could come to understand one another, perhaps in the future no League of Nations or World Court would be necessary to arbitrate on international differences. In order to promote a better understanding and to develop a spirit of brotherly love and friendship, the Foreign-American Club was organized in this school several years ago. It has served its purposes admirably, first under the guidance of Miss Edith Hoyle, now of the University High School, and at the present under the sympathetic supervision of Miss Steele and Miss Tinkham. All foreign boys are eligible for membership, and the American boys number half as many as the foreigners. At the regular monthly meetings, the members discuss the customs of their own countries. During the Christmas vacation Lewis Gill entertained the club at his home. The nationalities represented this year are Filipino, Russian, Armenian, Greek, French, and American.

The Touchstone Club

AT THE BEGINNING of the year the Touchstone Club, a dramatic organization, adopted a very efficient way of presenting plays at its meetings. The club was divided into groups and at each meeting a different group furnished the entertainment. In this way the new members of the club had an opportunity to show their dramatic ability. Instead of combining with the Shakespearean Circle as in former years, the Touchstone Club gave a dance in the high school auditorium in December. It also enjoyed a Christmas party at Miss Hannan's sorority house. The play given the first semester was a one-act comedy by Booth Tarkington called "Station Y-Y-Y-Y," and "The Florist Shop," by Winifred Hawkridge, was presented during the second semester.

The Shakespearean Circle

THE SHAKESPEAREAN CIRCLE, a dramatic organization, has for its purpose the study and presentation of the drama and the encouragement of the writing of original plays by members of the student body. To do this a play contest is sponsored; the winner has his play produced in assembly and receives a prize. This year no award was made, but last year Jean Cowden produced "The Essex Ring." Alba Bush, however, wrote a clever skit, "Capital Punishment Beyond the Styx." The Circle has usually presented interesting plays, its most ambitious attempt being "She Stoops to Conquer" in May, 1929. This year the club gave an interesting character study called "Grandma Pulls the Strings," and a light comedy "Shall We Join the Ladies."

The Colonnade Club

THE COLONNADE CLUB had a successful year under the supervision of Miss Caldwell and Mrs. Sellards. Each monthly meeting was in charge of a committee of four girls who were responsible for the entertainment and refreshments. At one meeting Mary Agnes Swanwick and Nancy-Ellen Reed reported on their stay at Camp Gray, Saugatuck, the Y. W. C. A. camp to which they had been sent as delegates the previous summer. At other meetings Miss Paton gave an interesting talk about her trip to Alaska and Miss Bennett described her trip abroad.

At Thanksgiving the girls presented each one in the Old Ladies' Home with a basket of fruit. When Christmas came they helped a family of eight, supplying the children with toys and the older members with money. The annual dance was given with the Hi-Y Club on April 20.

The Hi-Y Club

DURING the past year the Hi-Y club of the Ann Arbor High School has been a very lively organization and has accomplished many worth-while things. The annual Old Boys' Conference was attended by several members of the club, who made the trip to Flint along with a large delegation of Ann Arbor boys. The Hi-Y-Colonnade dance was held with unusual success in April.

Several interesting speakers appeared on the program of the organization throughout the year. "Father" Iden of the Student Christian Association, and Martin Mol, student president of that organization, were the speakers at the opening banquet held at the Y.M.C.A. Charles Bennett, vice-president of the same group, spoke at a later meeting, while Rev. John Shilling also contributed an excellent talk at one of the programs. Mr. Isbell of the high school faculty completed the list of speakers.

The Girls' League

THE Girls' League is an organization designed to promote a friendly feeling among the girls of the school. The dues are not large and the monthly meetings are free, so that every girl in the Ann Arbor High School may take advantage of the opportunity offered her to get acquainted with her fellow students. At every meeting an orchestra played for dancing and refreshments were served. Programs were offered during the year by a group of alumnae and by the girls from the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore session rooms.

Since the League includes in its membership all the girls of the school, it is fitting that it should be sponsored by the three session room teachers. For years they have given much time and energy to the organization, and the past year was no exception. The girls of the school owe them a debt of gratitude for their efforts.

THE GIRLS' WASHINGTON CLUB

The Washington Club has been in existence in the Ann Arbor High School for six years. This year thirty girls, with the session-room teachers as chaperones, went to the national capital during the spring vacation. They had earned the money for the trip by means of various activities during the year. The officers were as follows: president, Helen Ziefle; vice-president, Helen Bird; secretary, Nancy-Ellen Reed; treasurer, Dorothy D'Eath. Five boys, chaperoned by Mr. Mackmiller, accompanied the girls.

Second Row: Richard White, Francis Kruidenier, Abe Zwerdling, William Goetz.

The Nestorian Club

THE Nestorian Club was founded last year by Miss Evans, debate coach at that time, for the purpose of promoting an interest in public speaking activities. It was reorganized the second semester this year by Miss Wisehart, who succeeded Miss Evans as teacher of speech. The constitution which had been adopted last year by the club was adhered to with two important exceptions: Juniors and Sophomores were admitted to membership instead of Sophomores only, and the meetings were held at the homes of members in the evening instead of in the high school building after school hours.

Meetings were held bi-monthly and consisted of debates, extemporaneous speeches, plays, parliamentary drill, and general discussions of current problems. They were of great value to the members and to the school in general, since they served to create and foster an interest in speech activities which has never been very great in the Ann Arbor High School. The club will be valuable in perpetuating these interests, so that next year many more students will try out for the debating teams and for places in the contests which are sponsored by the Michigan High School Oratorical Association.

Football

EVERY SCHOOL at times experiences an off-year in football, and this year proved to be Ann Arbor's turn to suffer reverses. Although a record squad reported for early practices, there were few experienced players. The season was opened with the overwhelming defeat of Durand at Ann Arbor, 37 to 0. The following Saturday the squad journeyed to Fordson to be trampled by the Tractor outfit, 21 to 0. The next week at Wines Field, Battle Creek smothered the faltering Ann Arbor athletes with a score of 12 to 0.

Invading Adrian the following week, the locals managed to tie the score at 6 to 6. It was a rejuvenated team that gave the strong Pontiac invaders a hard-fought contest at Wines Field the following Saturday. However, the visitors won with the close score of 12 to 7. The following week's fray at Wines Field, with the highly touted Flint Northerners, was the second, and incidentally, the last victory of the year for the Purple and White lads; the score was 7 to 0. The third tie of the season with Lansing Eastern came the next week, with a score of 6 to 6.

Saginaw next bested the University City boys at Saginaw amid a driving rain on a field of mud, the score being 12 to 0. The annual contest with Jackson at Jackson closed the season with another 6 to 6 tie, although Ann Arbor clearly outplayed her opponents.

The record of the 1928 team was somewhat stained, since it won only two games, tied three, and dropped four. There was an unusual number of injuries which kept many players out of games when they were badly needed. Although the team did not function properly, a great deal of credit is due the boys for their industry and splendid determination. Coach Hollway loses nine lettermen this year when graduation takes place. These are Captain Mordsky, Ponto, Frey, Davis, Magill, Tillotson, Walsh, Walz, and Bohnet. The lettermen remaining for next year are Captain-elect Conover, Mayfield, Nott, Pegan, Jenkins, Novack, Schneeberger, and Wagner. Coach Hollway was assisted this year by Coaches Laverne Taylor and Willard Kurty.

Reserve Football

THE SECOND TEAM this year proved to be an aggregation with plenty of spirit and determination. A fairly long schedule of games was arranged, some of which were with very strong teams. The first game with Chelsea was lost by the overwhelming score of 63-0. The next opponent was Pinckney, who tied the score at 6-6. A return game with Chelsea resulted in another loss, but this time the score was only 49-0. Another return game with Pinckney and one with Lincoln Park were lost by scores of 9-0 and 19-0 respectively. In the last game with Ypsilanti the seconds found their stride and succeeded in winning, 26-0.

The scores indicate that the second team was a weak aggregation; this is not surprising as its ranks were constantly being depleted to plug gaps in the first team. Furthermore, the primary purpose of the second team is not to fill a schedule of games, but rather to act as a buffer for the first team. The weekly scrimmages which the reserves offered the first stringers were invaluable in developing the school team, and the boys deserve much chedit for the courage and pertinacity with which they stuck to a grueling and disagreeable task.

The Leaders Corps

THE Leaders Corps is composed of a group of boys who are enrolled in the physical education classes of the school and who are especially interested and proficient in gymnastics. It was organized in 1920 by Mr. Olds, then head of the Department of Physical Education, and has grown steadily ever since. This year marked the enrollment of the largest Corps in its history, and as a result the group has reached its highest efficiency.

Preparation for the work of the Corps is obtained in weekly meetings in the school gymnasium, where various gymnastic feats are practiced under the supervision of the instructor, Mr. Drake. This practice is brought into use when the members are asked to direct the gymnasium classes, in place of the regular teacher. The Corps also functioned as a group this year when it gave tumbling exhibitions between halves at the regular basketball games and at the Washtenaw County Boy Scout banquet. An over-night hike was also enjoyed by members of the organization.

Other boys of the group in addition to the members in the above picture were Parke Sager, William Smith, Floyd Elsifor, Elmer Stadel, Douglas Nott, Herbert Myer, Alvin Novack, Frederick Radke, and Fred Beeler.

Top Row—Novack, Crull, Brown, Mayfield, Tillotson, Letchfield.

Basketball

THE OPENING GAME for Coach Hollway's cagers was with a fast and determined Alumni team, which won 22-17. The next opponent was a veteran Pontiac quintet which outscored the local five 21-16. The Purple and White boys next trimmed Adrian with a score of 34-10. The "Big Reds" of Lansing were next encountered on their home court by a brilliant Ann Arbor team which won 21-9. Jackson, destined to be State Champions, then came to Ann Arbor and won by one point, 17-16. The same week, Flint Central went home stinging under a 24-15 defeat. Ann Arbor was next defeated by Port Huron, 28-25. Then Lansing Eastern trounced the local cagers 23-11. At Battle Creek, Ann Arbor was beaten by the close score of 21-18. Next Bay City staved off an Ann Arbor rally to win by one point, 11-10. Ypsilanti Central was next beaten by the Hollwaymen, 16-12. The closing game on the schedule resulted in a victory for Saginaw Eastern, 17-10. In the district tournament at Jackson, Ann Arbor won her first game, defeating Royal Oak 29-20. The following evening Jackson won after three thrilling overtime periods, 15-14.

Billy Pegan, captain-elect, was the bulwark of the team, being the only letterman to play during the entire season. Davis and Walz were lost at mid-season, and Brown, Wagner, and Tillotson were used to fill their places. Other letter-winners were Novack, Nott, Zahner, and Mayfield. Tillotson is lost by graduation.

Top Row—Kasabach, Dunnaback, Hickey, Crull, Conover, White.

Reserve Basketball

COACHED BY Mr. Hollway, the reserve basketball squad was rather successful during the past season. Eleven games were played, which was one of the largest schedules for the seconds in several years. Of this number four were won, and five were lost by small margins, leaving only two bad drubbings.

The team defeated St. Thomas High School, 19 to 15; Jackson Reserves, 15 to 14; an all-star interclass team, 23 to 22; and the Ypsilanti Reserves, 19 to 10. It lost to Northville, 17 to 13; Pontiac Reserves, 16 to 14; Milan, 15 to 14; Northville, 25 to 20; Chelsea, 32 to 10; and the Y.M.C.A. Juniors, two games, 27 to 5, and 21 to 19 respectively.

The team served as a training camp for the regulars, since nearly the entire first team was replaced from among the ranks of the reserves. Clark Boyd, one of the outstanding performers of the team, is the only member to be lost by graduation, which leaves a capable aggregation for next year and promises a successful team. Liston Crull served as manager of this team as well as of the first.

Swimming

WHEN the swimming team began its annual grind, the prospects for the season were exceptionally good. As a result, one of the best teams in the past five or six years was developed by Mr. Drake. It lost only one meet of the six which it entered.

The first meet of the year with Ypsilanti Roosevelt High resulted in a 48-21 victory. Against Ypsilanti Central another victory was next registered, 44-15. At Jackson, the Purple and White natators won 45-24, for the first time in three years. Meeting Lansing Eastern next, the team administered a drubbing to the Capital City boys, 44-25. The meet with Lansing Central proved to be the only snag of the year; it resulted in a defeat, 38-31. The last victim was Pontiac, who was downed, 48-22. Total scores for the year were Ann Arbor 260, opponents 145.

Paul Schaeffer was lost at mid-year because of ineligibility. Others of the team to be lost by graduation are Captain Bovard, Gill, and Coryell. Arthur Mosier, Kenneth Mack, and Alfred Wiefenbach were also letter winners who are not in the picture above.

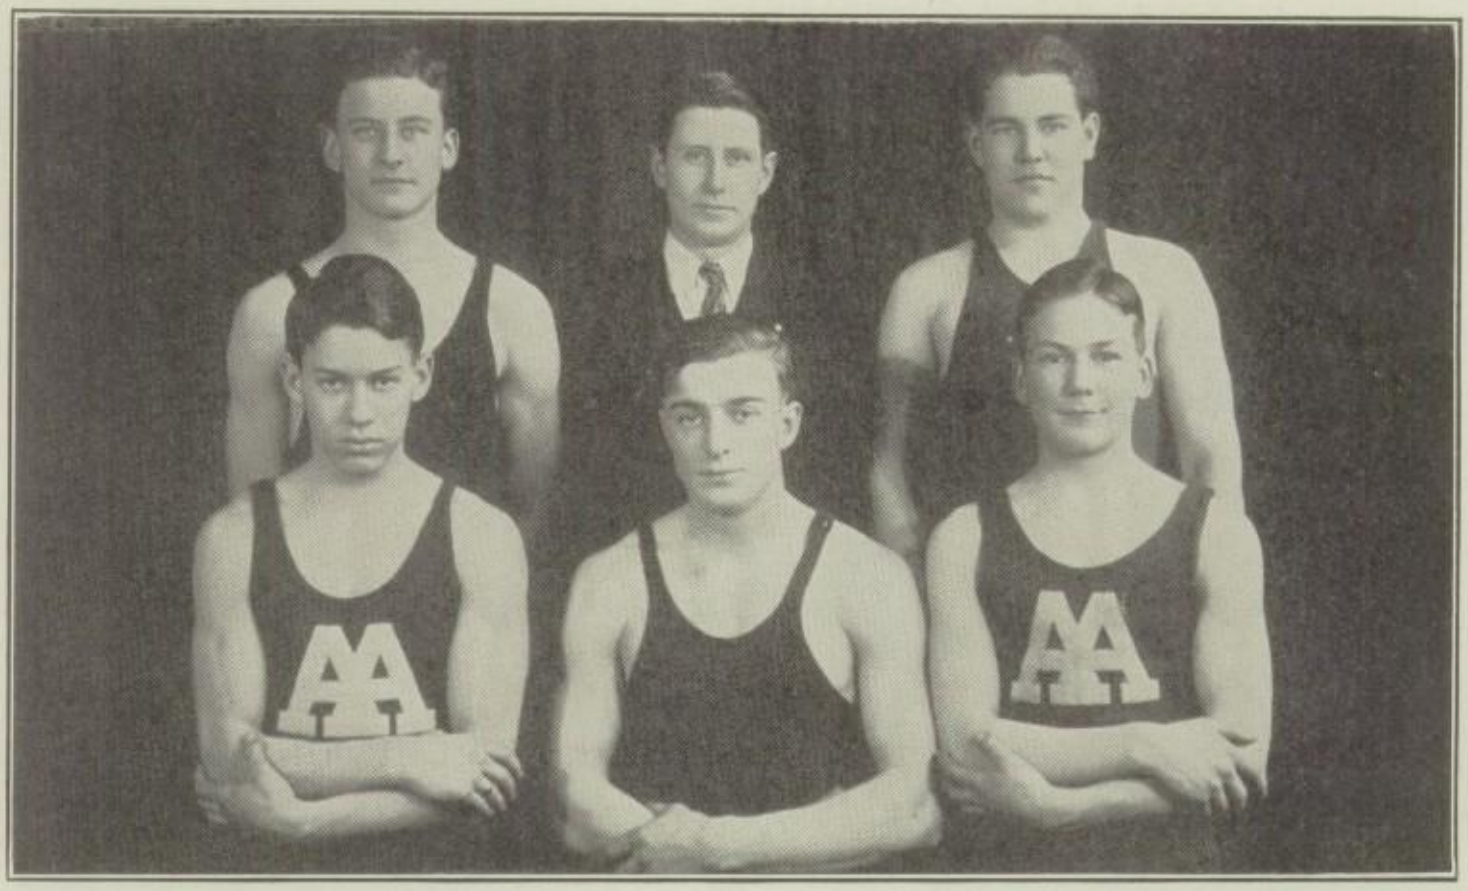
Track

WHEN COACH RYAN issued his call for track men in the fall, only six letter-men were available: Floyd Wakefield, Ira Williams, Peter Zahner, Alfred Wagner, Elmer Mahlke, and Hilton Ponto. Of the many new men who responded, twelve others won their letters.

Four indoor meets were held during the winter season, of which the boys won two and lost two. They defeated Fordson 66 to 26 and Dearborn 51 to 33, but were in turn defeated by the strong aggregations from Toledo Scott High School and Detroit Eastern by the respective scores of 69 to 17 and 55 to 40.

In the spring the boys met and defeated their traditional enemy, Jackson, by a score of 77 to 48 on April 27. Other spring meets which they entered were the University of Michigan Invitational Meet on May 11, and the State Track Meet at East Lansing May 25.

Among the events in which the team engaged were the 40-yard dash, the 40-yard high hurdles, the 45-yard low hurdles, the 220, the 440, the half-mile, the mile, and the shot put, the pole vault, and the broad jump. By graduation Leonard Coryell, Roy Goulder, Ira Williams, Elmer Mahlke, and Hilton Ponto will be missing from next year's team, but much good material is left as the nucleus for a strong aggregation.



Top Row: Edwin Webster, Mr. Gates, James Conover.
Bottom Row: Leo Silver, Hilton Ponto, Rodes Clay.

The Gymnastic Team

IN 1921 a gymnastic team was organized by Mr. Lloyd Olds in the Ann Arbor High School, which was the first school in the state to form such a team. Since 1923 state meets have been held annually, three of which have been won by the Ann Arbor team. Starting this year with three members of last year's group, Coach Lloyd Gates of the physical education department developed a worthy squad of five. The members were picked from the best material in the Leaders Corps, which is coached by Mr. Drake.

Entering only one meet, namely the annual Interscholastic Tournament, held under the auspices of the Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti, the team captured fourth place. This was an improvement over last year, when the team won fifth place. Much credit is due to Mr. Gates for his excellent coaching, and to the members of the team for their unceasing efforts to develop themselves physically. The members from last year's team were Rodes Clay, Leo Silver, and Hilton Ponto. Of these Leo Silver and Hilton Ponto will graduate, leaving but three members to organize next year's team.

Cross Country

THE 1928 SEASON witnessed the largest turn-out for cross country that the school has ever had. As a result, the season was a fairly successful one, although there were only two letter-men, Captain Goulder and Floyd Wakefield. For their first meet the Purple and White harriers were the guests of Dearborn. The opener proved to be too great an obstacle for Coach Ryan's men, who lost by a score of 23 to 31. Servis, finishing in second position, led the Ann Arbor squad. The next meet was with Pontiac at Ann Arbor. The visiting hill-and-dalers were easily defeated by a score of 37 to 17. Servis was the first to cross the line. The next encounter was the regional meet at Fordson. Ann Arbor placed second, while Hoyt Servis ranked third in individual scoring. Following was the state meet at Ypsilanti under the auspices of the Michigan State Normal College. Here Ann Arbor placed sixth among a large number of strong teams. Servis again led the squad, placing seventh, finishing only twenty-four seconds behind the winner.

Those who received letters were Captain Goulder, Wakefield, Swenson, Servis, Tuthill, and Coryell. Of these only Goulder and Coryell are Seniors, thus leaving a strong nucleus for next year's team.

Raymond Wines, Derwood Prochnow, Richard Burris, LeRoy Alexander.

The Cheer-Leaders

EVERYBODY KNOWS how much "pep" a good, rousing cheer adds to the enjoyment of a game, and players know that they can do better work if a cheering crowd is behind them. Ann Arbor High School has long recognized these facts and for years there have been cheer-leaders of sorts. But not until this year was the problem of obtaining good cheer-leaders really faced. Early in the year the Athletic Board, at the instigation of the Student Council, took action to provide for organized cheer-leaders and issued a call for tryouts. From these tryouts the boys in the above picture were selected. The first semester John Van Akkeren, who was graduated in February, was also a member of the squad.

These boys could always be depended upon to be present at football, basketball, and baseball games, various athletic meets, pep meetings, and occasionally at assemblies. When the entire squad appeared at one time they amused the crowd by their concerted antics, thereby eliciting hearty cheers. They looked attractive in their white uniforms and were a decided addition to the occasions which they graced. The stimulus which has been given to this activity by the action of the Athletic Board and the Student Council will undoubtedly carry over into next year. A larger staff of cheer-leaders with greater experience should be the result.

Baseball

FOR THE FIRST TIME since 1913, Ann Arbor High School was represented this year by a baseball team. There has been frequent agitation for such an organization, but for some reason or other, it never crystalized into action. However, this year Stanton Ware, a Junior, furnished the necessary stimulus, and by his initial efforts started the ball rolling which finally effected a team. In order to organize, funds were necessary to purchase equipment. These were obtained by means of a tag-day in the high school, and from loyal business men of Ann Arbor. Mr. Drake developed an excellent team of eighteen men. The opening game, which was played at West Park, resulted in a 6 to 5 victory over Fordson on April 26. The rest of the schedule included St. Thomas School, Ann Arbor, Tecumseh High School, Ypsilanti Central, Battle Creek High School, Pontiac High School, Ypsilanti Roosevelt School, and Plymouth High School.

The boys played the following positions: pitcher, Harry Tillotson, Charles Menefee, Lawrence Pratt, Nelson Pepper; catchers, Roger Brown, Douglas Nott; first base, Grier Bovard; second base, Stanton Ware, William Pegan, James Conover; shortstop, Frederick Beeler; third base, Leonard Olsen, David Dow; fielders, Robert Mayfield, Charles Cope, Carl Pagel, Neil Hurley, and Arnold Walsh, captain.

The success of the season will do much to establish the sport as a regular feature of the athletic program, and it should take its place with the major sports sponsored by the physical education department of the Ann Arbor High School.

The Girls' Athletic Club

THE Girls' Athletic Club has been very active this year, as in previous years, and the membership has increased rapidly. In this club the girls are taught the rules of good sportsmanship on the athletic field or wherever athletic contests are held. They receive these instructions under the supervision of Miss Youngquist. Meetings are held the first Wednesday afternoon in each month, and the girls also have various hikes and picnics during the year. The sports managers control the various after-school activities: basketball, volleyball, track, hockey, baseball, and tennis, all of which have proved very successful, especially the inter-class tournaments. At the annual banquet held in February, Lucille Gauss received an A.A., the highest athletic honor which can be awarded to a girl in the Ann Arbor High School, and the tennis championship cup. Several skating and sleigh-ride parties have been held throughout the year, to which the girls have responded enthusiastically.

The Girls' Leaders Corps

THE Girls' Leaders Corps was organized in 1924 by Miss Donahue, former physical director for girls. Its purpose is to promote good sportsmanship and physical development. Girls who show themselves especially proficient and reliable in gymnastic work are taken into the club. They must be able to conduct classes and are called upon to do so during the year. They are instructed in conducting relays, marches, games, and apparatus work by Miss Youngquist, the physical director. Meetings are held each Thursday evening in the gymnasium.

The club has grown rapidly in the past year, and boasts a large membership. The girls are more or less preparing themselves for physical education as a profession, and must become proficient in all gymnastic lines. Honors are awarded those having the highest number of points at the end of the year, and each girl strives to get as many as possible. Points are awarded for participation and proficiency in all branches of athletic activity open for girls. In previous years, the Corps has made public appearances, but none has been made this year.

Much credit is due Miss Youngquist, the faculty adviser, for the activity and interest which have been shown and the progress which has been made.

Intramural Activities

THE intramural activities of the Ann Arbor High School are under the supervision of Mr. Drake and Miss Youngquist, members of the physical education department. Three hundred boys have taken part in the following sports the past year: speedball, during the months of September and October; swimming, indoor track, wrestling, and basketball through the months of November, December, January, and February; and baseball, track, and tennis in the spring.

At the end of the speedball schedule the Juniors and the Seniors were tied, and the extra game to decide the championship was won by the Juniors. The swimming meet was won by the Seniors in a very close and exciting race, which was not decided until the last event. Indoor track was won by the Juniors, with the Sophomores second.

Wrestling, which is a new intramural sport in this high school, had forty-two contestants. Hilton Ponto, Senior, won the unlimited class; William Pegan, Junior, the 155-pound class; Arthur Mosier, Junior, the 142-pound class; Leo Silver, Senior, the 130-pound weight, while the lightweight title was won by Charles Duffren, a Sophomore.

Basketball drew the largest number of boys, sixty playing during the schedule. Each class had a light-weight and a heavy-weight team. The Juniors won the light-weight title, while the Seniors won the heavy-weight crown.

Twenty-four boys played in a tennis tournament during the spring months. Each class was represented by a baseball team, playing a schedule of three games a week during the month of May. The interclass meet was held at the annual field day May 31, about thirty boys taking part.

The girls' sports consisted of hockey and tennis in the fall, volley ball and basketball in the winter, and baseball in the spring. Thirty-eight girls turned out for hockey; the Sophomores won the championship, while the Seniors ended in second place. Peggy White was manager for the Sophomores, Harriet Stout for the Juniors, and Lucille Gauss for the Seniors. The tennis tournament, which could not be completed last fall because of bad weather, left Esther Kunkle, Sarah Pierce, and Jane Cissel in the lead.

Volley ball attracted thirty-nine girls, the Seniors winning the championship with the Juniors second. Esther Gauss was chosen captain for the Sophomores, Harriet Stout for the Juniors, and Lucile Gauss for the Seniors. Twenty-eight girls came out for basketball, the Juniors winning first place and the Seniors second. An all-star team was selected to play the Alumnae and won 22 to 12. Basketball captains were Esther Gauss for the Sophomores, Maxine Morrison for the Juniors, and Helen Bird for the Seniors.

Spring baseball enrolled thirty-three girls; Esther Gauss was chosen captain for the Sophomores, Thelma Marquardt for the Juniors, and Lucile Gauss for the Seniors. At the close of the season an all-star team played the Alumnae.

CALENDAR

DO YOU REMEMBER

September:

10. How we all came trooping joyfully back with our bright and smiling faces? (This is all bunk if you should ask me).
18. First assembly. We are to wait until the toil of school has placed its mark upon us before we pass out in our usual order.
19. Enter the Optimist. We all did our duty and subscribed. Yeah?
20. The first call for chorus and all our vocal geniuses responded nobly, 250 strong.
21, Handbooks—our Etta Kett.
27. Bargain! Bargain! Football tickets eight cents per game.
28. Tatterman Marionettes—here.
29. Ann Arbor 37, Durand 0. Good start.

October:

2. The shrill blast of the fire bell pierced our hearts with a poignant longing. Alas! 'twas but a drill.
4. Generosity pervaded the school today. Free tickets to Ohio Wesleyan game and "Simba"! What's the joke?
5, Class elections.
6. Too bad! Fordson, 27; Ann Arbor, 6.
9. Dr. Parker spoke and we all made good resolutions. Very good ones.
10. Our jinx follows us—Battle Creek, 12; Ann Arbor, 0.
15. Ouch! Report Cards.
18-19. The teachers had a convention and we had a vacation.
20. Broke even with Adrian, 6-6.
25. Pep meeting—Rah! Rah! Mordsky!
27. Ouch! Pontiac, 12; A. A H. S., 7.

November:

3. Aha—we snapped out of it. Flint was the victim, 7-0.
6 Doctor Rice spoke in assembly and we heard about mud turtles.
10. Umm! Lansing Eastern, 6; Ann Arbor, 6.
13. Fire burglars, or what have you? The bell got all hot and bothered this noon; it rang 27 minutes and 32 seconds—honest count.
14. Rah! Rah! Pep meting. Debaters.
15. Huh? Saginaw 12-Ann Arbor 0.
19. Again those crepe hangers—report cards.
22. Charlie Paddock talked in asembly and was duly besieged by our tribe of autograph fanatics.
27. "Dizzy" Dow broadcasted from Station Y-Y-Y-Y.
28 Ra-da-da, Thanksgiving vacation.
29. Gr-r-r-r! Jackson, 6; Ann Arbor, 6.
4. The dramatics class honored us with portions of three plays: "As You Like It," "MacBeth," "The Merchant of Venice."
8. The Shakespeareans reveled—annual dance.
12. All of our public-spirited citizens bought season basketball tickets—the rest of us didn't.
14. Our "select" dined as the guests of the Board of Education—Honor Banquet.
15. Hot feet—Touchstone Dance.
19 Razzberries! No, the peddler's cart didn't run into the school; the "Pessimist" just made its appearance.
20. Learned something: "Why the Chimes Rang."
21. The watched pot finally boiled — Christmas vacation.
28. Our honorable alumni returned to show us their prowess—Alumni, 22; A. A. H. S., 17.

January:

2 As if it wasn't bad enough to return to school, they hurled those evil tidings toward us. Yip! Report cards! Happy New Year? Oh, Yeah.
4. Say, I believe all the silver linings have been used up, because I can't seem to find one for this cloud. Pontiac, 21; A. A. H. S., 16.

"Will Armstrong's Photographs Tell the Story"

Again —

It has been a great pleasure to work with all the students and the faculty of the Ann Arbor High School.

Sincerely,

Will Armstrong

RANDALL STUDIO
121 East Washington

8. Some former inmates of our honorable institution have taken pity on us and placed diversion, in the form of pictures, along the corridors.
9. Pep meeting—Kip Taylor.
10. Guess it must have had an effect. A. A. H. S., 34; Adrian, 10.
11. Debaters vanquished Ferndale, 3-0.
14. Hokus Pokus in assembly. Two pigeons—one rooster
15. Senior Play Tryouts!
16. Mr. Forsythe occupied the throne in C-17. Hence two hundred well-behaved Seniors. (Just as if they always weren't).
17. Public speaking class had a taste of the real thing—banquet.
18. Lansing quintet defeated by Ann Arbor, 21-9.
18. Irony plus—an all-school party the Friday before exams.
21. The last days of grace—repent ye sinners!
22. The dies are cast—finals!
23-26. We all enjoyed a well-earned respite, in fact, a very well-earned one.
24. Jackson 17, Ann Arbor 16. Pretty close.
25. Well, we took our spite out on Flint; Flint, 16, Ann Arbor 22.

February:

1. Caesar's ghost as presented by the Stratford Players. Port Huron 28, Ann Arbor 25.
4. We turned contortionists, puzzle fans, or what have you? The new corridor slips made their debut.
5. Whoopee and how, Evergreen Tree.
6. Well, everyone was given an opportunity to subscribe for THIS worthy publication.
10. Lansing 23, A.A.H.S. 11. What was that?
13. Senior meeting—ho hum!
14. We yawned through assembly. All about George Washington; poor man, it wasn't his fault.
15. Exclusive, and how! Girls' Fancy Dress Party. Battle Creek 21, A.A. H.S. 18.
19. What ho, views from Washington!
21. Pep meeting, Ernie McCoy.—'Nuff said.
22. Bay City 11, Ann Arbor 10; too bad.

March:

1. This looks more encouraging—Ypsilanti 12, A.A.H.S. 16.
4. Talk about class! We all attended President Hoover's inauguration.
5. Bar lo un day, chin lo—The legend of the Willow Plate. Jane Roden, heroine.
8. The chemistry classes froze and parboiled at the gas plant. All-school party. Saginaw 17, A.A.H.S. 10.
15. Tournament at Jackson. A.A.H.S. ruined Royal Oak—a good start.
16. Some more tournament—Jackson won by one point in three overtime periods. Doesn't that make you ache?
21. This morning we were shown a way to invest some of our pin money—Studebaker cars.
23. It's all on the Seniors, "The Road to Yesterday."
25. I'm afraid the history class will be attacked by a serious case of writer's cramps, but what's the difference if the anti-filibustering letters accomplish their purpose?
26. Pease and Carrots? At any rate, it's the development of music.

April:

3. Stanton Ware, an ambitious Junior, makes a baseball team possible.
5. We can't get away from them—report cards.
6. The Seniors who had been ambitious leave for Washington—the rest of them wish that they had possessed more of this desirable characteristic.
15. Bologna—Mock Elections.
19. Big shindig: Hi-Y—Colonnade dance.
25. The Chorus deserves the medal: it has helped a lot to shorten the periods and break up the monotony, and it sang beautifully for the Schoolmasters.

26. Some merry convention, some more vacation.
27. Just to start out right, we won our first baseball game.
30. Mr. Taming gave us a talk on fire prevention; then, to be in tune we had a fire drill.

May:

1. Our Glee Clubs and Orchestra leave for Lansing to enter the State Music Contest.

2. "The Imaginary Invalid" and "Good Medicine"—two very worthy plays, presented by our worthy dramatics class.
7. Again we are entertained with Monsieur Touchstone as host, in assembly —"The Florist Shop."
14. "Good Medicine" repeated in assembly.
16. Prospective students from the Junior High Schools visit A.A.H.S. and attend an assembly.
17. John Huss goes to Muskegon to compete in the Peninsular League.
28. "Shall We Join the Ladies?" Here the Shakespeareans show their ability in assembly.
30. Hurrah: No school today.
31. The Shakespeareans again blow themselves. Annual field day at Ferry Field.

10. For once the Seniors have a break and while other students are diligently writing exams we're having a good time.
13. Class day—Where we learn all we have done and all we are going to do. Senior Dance—Just one more good time.
14. Graduation—that's all. Goodbye.

She (looking in a jeweler's window): You know, when one sees a beautiful thing one feels a strong desire to possess it.

He: Yes, that's why they invented the police.

Jack (showing a photograph of himself on a donkey): I had this taken when I was at the beach last summer. Do you think it is like me?

Pat: Rather! But who's that on your back?

Employer (engaging typist): And what are your qualifications?

She: Well, I can type a bit and do a little shorthand, and I'm—er—a perfectly splendid dancer!

"I heard Professor Jones driving his car into the garage at daybreak this morning. Where do you suppose he had been?"

"Oh, Mrs. Jones told me that he saw a red lantern beside that excavation down the street and sat there waiting for it to change to green."

"Your honor," said the foreman of a jury, when giving the verdict, "we find the man who stole the horse Not Guilty."

* * *

"Last night I dreamed I was married to the most beautiful girl in the world."

"Oh, George, were we happy?"

Employer (to office boy): How do you find yourself these cold mornings, Tommy?

Quite easily, thank you sir. I just throw back the bedclothes and there I am!

He: I can tell by looking in a girl's eye just what she thinks of me.

She: How annoying!

Freshman: What is the Shakespearean Circle?

2d Ditto: A geometry problem.

Hen: What you they mean by the "witching hour"?

Peck: Don't you know? That's the hour when the wife greets you with "Which story is it this time?"

High: What will become of a child who constantly clings to his mother's skirts?

Hat: He'll probably become a trapeze artist!

She: You should change your style of dancing a little

He: In what way?

She: You might occasionally step on my left foot.

For that tired feeling, sit down.

Betty was going through a museum.

"Oh, I wish I was that lady," she said, pointing to the Venus de Milo.

"Why, dear?" asked her mother.

"'Cause people wouldn't be always be saying to me, 'Don't bite your nails, dear'."

* * *

"Mother," said a six-year-old girl after coming from a walk, "I've seen a man who makes horses."

"Are you sure?" asked the mother.

"Yes," she replied. "He had a horse nearly finished when I saw him; he was just nailing on his back feet."

* * *

Stude (absently): You are a dear, sweet girl, Anna—

Coed: Anna! My name's Sally!

Stude (on the re-bound): I say you are a dear sweet girl anna love you with all my heart.

Miss Parry: James, what was Washington's farewell address?

James: Heaven, Ma'am.

THE GAY NINETIES

—had style advocates aplenty. Imagine how they would enthuse over today's opportunities. To be properly dressed at all times requires but an occasional visit to Goodyear's, where style and courtesy prevail.

"With a single stroke of a brush," said Mrs. Sellards to her art class, "Joshua Reyonulds could change a smiling face to a frowning one."

"That's nothing, so can my mother," promptly replied John White.

Wife: Do you know what day this is? It's twenty-five years ago since we became engaged.

Absent-minded Professor: Twenty-five years! Why didn't you remind me before? It's high time we were getting married.
